The following provisions apply to service certification that includes the issuance of a certification mark:

The certificate holder may only use the certification marks defined in the certificate for the specific models listed in the certificate. The certificate holder is responsible for controlling the use of the certification mark and for ensuring that the certification mark is used exclusively in conjunction with the identity of the certificate holder and the specific certified model number. The certificate holder may not transfer the rights of the certificate to third parties

Certification mark holders must constantly monitor the certified criteria to ensure that they meet the requirements of the certification. They must also document any related complaints or deviations and correct non-conformities.

Continued use of the certification mark will depend on periodic inspections. In order to ensure that the conditions on which the certificate is based are maintained, the Certification Body shall periodically inspect the manufacturing facilities as well as the quality assurance measures on behalf of the certificate holder
